

EXHIBITS BEGIN COMING TO FAIR

Township Exhibits Draw
Good Crowds at Sand
Springs and Bixby

BROKEN ARROW, TOO

Three Other Townships Will Hold 1922 Expositions Today; Dawson Next

Although officials of the Tulsa county fair were not expecting exhibits for the 1922 fair which opens Saturday morning to arrive at Broken Arrow, Bixby and Sand Springs, quite a number have been secured at the fair grounds and many more will pour in today.

Winning products of the Broken Arrow and Skiatook township fairs were already here and numerous individual entries are also on hand waiting to be placed.

C. Meyers, fair secretary, says that spirit on the part of the exhibitors indicates greater interest in the county fair this year and that the fair officials feel good.

Wonderful Small Fair.
Fair officials spent most of Wednesday visiting the township fairs at Broken Arrow, Bixby and Sand Springs and conferring with officers of the Owasso, Red Fork, Sapulpa and Dawson fairs, which with the exception of the last open today.

The Wicket-Sand Springs township fair at Sand Springs is truly a surprise, for every department is replete with exhibits and so tastefully were the products arranged that everyone who inspected them at the Sand Springs city hall yesterday was greatly surprised at the high type of product shown. As John S. Malone, county farm agent, said, "It is a small county fair in itself."

The Wicket-Sand Springs fair opened at noon Wednesday and a crowd was present all day, but at night the hall was packed to see the unveiling by Mayor Hinz of the American flag made of kernels of corn.

There were more than 12,000 kernels in the flag. Kernels from red, white and blue ears were used. The work was by the women members of the fair board. When the drape was pulled aside by Mayor Hinz and the soft lights fell upon the flag it appeared as though of solid silk. A patriotic ceremony followed, the Sand Springs band playing the national air.

The "Better Babies" contest occurs Thursday.

Pure Bred Cattle Galore.
The livestock entered for the Bixby and Willow Springs township fair at Bixby overshadowed the agricultural, fine arts and other displays shown at Bixby.

Large circus tents were employed to house the purebred hogs and beef cattle, and the array of animals was not only most complete, but represented some of the most valuable herds in Oklahoma.

Cass, milk inspector of Tulsa, judged the general farm exhibits, which reveal the variety of products that the rich bottom lands of the Arkansas river will produce. Fruit, berries, vegetables, grains and canned goods galore filled one side of the fair building, while domestic arts and other displays occupied the other side.

The poultry exhibit was housed in a temporary building, making five places where the Willow Springs-Bixby displays were on exhibition.

Fruit Displays Varied.
That the bottom lands of Tulsa county, located in the Broken Arrow-Bixby township, produce as fine fruit as can be found anywhere in Oklahoma was the verdict of Tulsaans who visited the Broken Arrow fair yesterday. More than one-half of the exhibit tables were filled with apples, peaches, pears, plums, grapes, watermelons, pumpkins, squash, tomatoes, peanuts, potatoes, and greens of all kinds.

An outstanding feature was the two individual farm exhibits on display. One by J. W. Simple, with 60 different farm products, and W. R. Galloway with 52 products. In the domestic department, Mrs. J. B. Morrow had 55 different types of canned goods. The pens for poultry were well filled and the nearby barns housed the hogs and calves of the boys and girls club members.

Jenks Opens Today.
One of the annual contestants for township and individual farm prizes at the Tulsa county fair is Jenks, because of the great displays of I. Phipps and his sons. Today at the Jenks township fair, Phipps and sons will again seek honors. They have been busy lately culling out the inferior fruits and vegetables and grains, so their displays will be as nearly 100 per cent as it is possible for them to be. Many of the products cast aside as unfit would be classed A-1 on the market today.

Dawson Closes Preliminaries.
Tomorrow morning the Dawson township fair will open at that little town in the east central part of Tulsa county and reports say that a fine collection of farm products, poultry and livestock will be in readiness for the judges to inspect before 6 p. m. Friday.

SUBURBAN CITY HOLDS FINE TOWNSHIP FAIR.
Special to The World.

SAND SPRINGS, Sept. 13.—Banner exhibits marked the opening of the fifth annual Sand Springs-Wicket township fair today, at Sand Springs. The city hall and several smaller buildings were beautifully decorated in preparation for the opening at noon.

Improvements by the score have been made this year, over last year for housing the greatly increased number of exhibits. The number of assistants to the fair board were doubled and every program has either been improved or expanded to take care of new and interesting subjects never before seen at Sand Springs.

The fire house has been turned into a show place for poultry and rabbits. The hallway on the main floor of the city hall has been converted into a place of display for vegetables. Exhibits of canned goods, antiques, fine school workmanship and green house entries were on exhibit in the auditorium. The artistic workmanship of several of N. E. Galloway's wood pieces called forth much comment. Galloway is the instructor of manual training in the Sand Springs home. The "Made in Sand Springs" display occupied the commissioners' offices.

Horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and calves were all represented at the fair. After many years of effort the fair board members have finally secured one of the best livestock shows in the history of the Sand Springs-Wicket township fairs.

Through the efforts of Mrs. C. B. Rawson and Mrs. George deStabler the "Better Babies" contest this year will surpass all previous fair contests. The two northwest rooms of the second floor of the city hall, have been devoted to the babies alone. Seven events will be held to find the better babies, and the local merchants have donated premiums for each event.

The fair is a great success and much credit is due the members of the board, John Hall, Sam Childers, O. A. Giles, Mrs. C. B. Rawson and Mrs. George deStabler.

Others in charge of the various departments are Mrs. Hugh Miller, fine arts; Mrs. Brim, Jellies and baked goods; Mrs. Cosette Gottry and Mrs. Frank Clyma, the juvenile department; and Mrs. O. A. Giles and Mrs. Betty Stricklen head of the canned goods department.

Canon Reatty's Wife Dead.
TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 13.—Mrs. Emmeline S. Reatty, wife of Canon David S. Reatty of Grace cathedral, died early this morning as the result of injuries received Sunday night from falling into an elevator shaft.
